

What kinds of CLOUDS

do you see?

What do you think the WEATHER will be?

CIRROSTRATUS

flat and spread out like a blanket can cover the whole sky
it might rain within a day!

CIRROCUMULUS

small, puffy white clouds scattered across the whole sky it's going to get colder!

CIRRUS

whispy, white, barely there it sunny - there won't rain!

ALTOCUMULUS

puffy, white, and gray
if it's humid outside and you see these, a thunderstorm might be coming!

CUMULONIMBUS

dark gray, sometimes
almost black
a thunderstorm is coming!
there might be hail

ALTOSTRATUS

gray-blue and streaky
they cover the sky
it could rain tonight or tomorrow!

NIMBOSTRATUS

dark gray and ragged
looking at the bottom
these bring rain or snow!

CUMULUS

like white fluffs of cotton they can pile high like a giant cotton candy
usually seen on bright,
sunny days

STRATUS

gray and cover the whole sky
there will probably be rain,
but not much

STRATOCUMULUS

gray fuzzy lumps hanging low in the sky
rain does not fall from these
